Weekly Reflection.

'I am Patrick, a sinner.'

St. Patrick's Day is a religious feast, which is celebrated all over the world. Patrick inspired generations of Irish missionaries who brought the Good News of Jesus Christ to the ends of the earth. We remember today how the Irish people, priests, religious and laity, brought the faith with them wherever they went, bringing access to education and health to Ireland and then on to developing countries. It is right to feel pride in, and to celebrate these achievements.

Unfortunately, there is a shadow which we must acknowledge too. The scandalous failures of the church in child abuse, and damage to unmarried mothers and orphans showed a huge betrayal of trust, for which we as a Church must ask for pardon.

So today we celebrate in hope and gratitude all that makes us Irish, and we pledge to continue to strive for a country and a world where respect, and tolerance and peace are the cornerstones of our society.

And like our Patron Saint in his Confession, our starting point is always 'I am a sinner.'

Happy St. Patrick's Day.

Fr Shane.
